General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

As someone about whom we, the ABKA collect the information contained in this form, the GDPR gives you certain rights to which our Policy on compliance with these regulations requires us to adhere:

1. Your right to be made aware of how we collect and safely store your details.
2. Your right to access any data we hold and to be informed about what we do with it.
3. The right to ask for information to be corrected, deleted or to prevent its use for certain purposes. These purposes could include, but would not be limited to, marketing or automated data processing for profiling purposes.
4. Your right to consent to our use of your information only for the purposes which we specify. Use for any other purpose will require us to ask for separate specific consent. If you do not reply in the affirmative or do not reply at all, we will have to assume that you refuse consent and that aspect of our or the WBKA's service/ facility will stop.

Collection of information:

We only collect information relevant to the efficient operation of the Association, to which you have consented and only from the forms you complete.

Security of information:

Your information will be held, in electronic format, password protected, only by those who have an over-riding need to do so. These would normally include our Secretary, Treasurer and Membership Secretary but may also include the Training/ Education Officer, librarian etc.

Consent:

To enable us to comply with the GDPR on consent:

1. As a member of the ABKA, we would like to communicate with you either by email, telephone or post to make you aware of forthcoming Association meetings, events and other beekeeping related information that might be relevant to you.

Do you consent to us using the appropriate information about you to do so?

Yes [] No []

2. As a member of the ABKA, you would normally be the recipient of a quarterly magazine and other guidance booklets published by the Welsh Beekeepers Association and we would therefore provide them with your name and postal address. Your postal address will then be provided to the publisher with whom the WBKA has a rigorous Data Protection agreement which prevents their use of the information for other purposes and requires destruction of all lists after use.

Do you consent to us providing the appropriate information to the WBKA for onward transmission to the publisher?

Yes [] No []

3. As, in the interests of honey bee health, it is the policy of ABKA to do so we would normally pass on your name, address and email address to the National Bee Unit.

Do we have your permission to do so?

Yes [] No []

4. We are obliged to pass your name and address to the BDI to enable them to forward relevant information and to ensure that any claim you make against the Bee Diseases Insurance can be validated.

Do you consent to this?

Yes [] No []

To enable you to ascertain what information we hold about you or to request changes or deletions, please contact the Data controller for ABKA at membershipsecretaryabka@gmail.com

If you wish to confirm what information the WBKA holds about you or to request changes or deletions, please contact their Data Controller at membership@wbka.com;

I have indicated my preferences in response to the above questions.

Please Note the Following:- (Recent Clarification by BDI)

- i) BDI premiums are paid in respect of the calendar year, 1st January to 31st December. Insurance cover becomes effective each year from the time that the ABKA receives his/her membership subscription and additional premiums Bee Disease Insurance (BDI) is only valid if all your hives are covered.
- ii) Members not wishing or unable (e.g. have 40 or more hives) to use the BDI Scheme A, must still pay the complete membership fee (which includes insurance for up to 3 hives).
- iii) BDI insurance covers normal increase during the season, i.e. swarms from your own hives or artificial swarms, but not imported swarms or colonies purchased during the season over and above the number insured.
- iv) The 40 day Rule. All subscriptions and premiums that are paid before 31 March will take effect immediately. These, plus any "top up" paid after 31 March will not enjoy cover for 40 days following payment to the ABKA. It is therefore sensible for the beekeeper to pay on time and allow for any expected increase in the numbers of colonies they may have during the season, which might be due to swarm control, collecting swarms or queen rearing i.e. the maximum you expect in the season.
- v) How many colonies should I cover? All colonies owned by a beekeeper must be covered; otherwise none are. Even if only one colony is destroyed. Many beekeepers underestimate the numbers of colonies they might have during the active season, so BDI introduced a banding scheme to help ensure that beekeepers who collect swarms, make artificial swarms or nuclei during the season do not find themselves with inadequate cover. If, for example, you normally run ten colonies but have the equipment and facilities to have more, you should consider paying the premium for the next band. The important thing when considering how many to cover is to make an accurate count of the starting number of colonies and then to add the plans, hopes or expectations of increase in the coming season.

Please Note: Receipts and Insurance Certificates will be generated by the BDI website then distributed by email or post by the ABKA Membership Secretary, and be dated from when payment was made to the ABKA.
